

SECRETARY OF THE ARMY
WASHINGTON
DEC 11 2014

To the Outstanding Employees of our Army Audit Agency

Congratulations on your fifth-place finish in the “The Best Places to Work in the Federal Government” competition for FY 2014. This is the fifth consecutive year that AAA has been officially recognized among the top five Federal subcomponents in this prestigious competition—very impressive, indeed.

Although the number of organizations competing for this recognition grows each year, AAA continues to be among the best. The fact that you have finished first, second (twice), third, and now fifth in this competition for past five years running is quite remarkable and something in which you can rightly take great pride.

I am delighted to see your organization consistently receive such distinction year after year. Your passion for excellence and dedication to accomplishing the mission are a powerful combination for success. Moreover, I am happy to see that AAA shares its knowledge and best practices with other organizations throughout the Army. Your contributions have been integral to our ability to achieve and maintain a ready and resilient force, and it makes us all proud to have such professionals as part of our Army.

Thank you for all that you have done to support our Army, and to help our Soldiers, Civilians and Families.

Congratulations & Best Wishes -

Sincerely,

John M. McHugh
John M. McHugh