Categories for Military Reserve Status

Selected Reserve

- The portion of the ready reserve consists of members that are assigned to reserve units troop program unit. Both obligated and non-obligated members who participate in inactive duty training periods and annual training, both of which are in a pay status.
- Non-unit members reselected, retrained, and assigned to occupy an authorized active duty position (i.e., on mobilization IDS) as required during early mobilization. These individuals are members of the individual mobilization designee program and are referred to as mobilization designees.

Individuals Ready Reserve (IRR)

- The portion of the ready reserve consisting of members not assigned to the selected reserve consisting of members not assigned to the selected reserve (non-unit members and not MOBDES).

Standby Reserve – Consists of

- Active Status members of the reserve program who may voluntarily participate in inactive duty training, but without pay or travel allowance.
- Inactive Status members who are not required by law or regulation to remain members of the active status program but desire to retain their reserve affiliation and have skills which can be utilized in a wartime assignment.

Retired Reserve – Consists of

- Former members of the reserve program as an Officer, Warrant Officer, or Enlisted person. These reservists are not receiving Retirement Pay. (Employees drawing retirement pay from the Reserve Program must be coded as Retired Military.)

Army Reserve Technician/Selected Reserve (Dual Status)

- Same as Selected Reserve, plus serving in the Army Reserve Technician Program. Meaning that his/her duties as a civilian employee are the same as a reservist.

Army Reserve Technician/Individual Ready Reserve (Dual Status)

- Employees covered by Individual Ready Reserve (IRR) who are also serving in the Army Reserve Technician Program.

Army Reserve Technician/Standby Reserve (Dual Status)

- Same as Standby Reserve plus serving in the Reserve Program

Army Reserve Technician (Non-Dual Status)

- An individual who is a civilian employee working under the Reserve Technician Program, but not serving in the Reserve Program.

All other Uniformed Service – Consists of

- All other members that are assigned to a Uniformed Service Unit (i.e., Air National Guard, Army National Guard or Coast Guard).
