HONOR AND SHAME

Admitting "I don't know" is shameful for an Iraqi. Constructive criticism can be taken as an insult. Women will often wear head scarves as a show of respect, even if wearing Western clothing. Women are rarely without a male relative or friend for escort.

FAMILY

Family is the center of honor, loyalty, and reputation. Men are always the head of the family. No direct attention should be given to female relatives.

PERSONAL SPACE

Iraqis do not share an American concept of "personal space" in public situations, and in private meetings or conversation. It is considered offensive to step or lean away from an Iraqi.

Women are an exception to this rule. One should not stand close to, stare at, or touch women.

SOCIALIZATION AND TRUST

When conducting business, it is customary to first shake the hand of all the males present, taking care to grip neither too firmly nor too meekly. Allocate plenty of time for refreshments before attempting to engage an Iraqi in business conversation. It is important to first establish respect and trust.

Understanding Arabic Names

FATHER	Abu Yusuf	Muhammad	Al-Tikriti	Al-Sayf
	(Parental Title) Father of Yusuf	(First Name)	(Birthplace, occupation) from Tikrit	From the Al-Sayf Family
MOTHER	Umm Yusuf	Rahil	bint Hassan ibn Ibrahim	Al-Saddaf

CHILD	Yusuf	ibn Muhammad	Al-Sayf

An Arabic name may be spelled several different ways in English.

Women do not take their husband's name. Parents add a title to their name that includes the name of their first son.

When including family heritage in names, women use "bint," meaning "daughter of," and men use "ibn" or "bin," meaning "son of."
